

ISM-Milwaukee Announces 2010 University Scholarship Winners

The ISM-Milwaukee University Relations Committee, and in conjunction with the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater Operation Management Foundation are proud to announce the winners of the 2010 ISM-Milwaukee University Scholarships. The winners are:

- Lauren Burkhardt –UW-Whitewater
- Traci Reed – UW-Whitewater
- Elizabeth McCarthy – UW-Whitewater
- Andrea Treadeau – UW-Whitewater
- Ian Bellovary – UW-Whitewater

The key focus of the ISM-Milwaukee University Scholarships is to invest in the education of future supply management professionals. ISM-Milwaukee will continue to work with UW-Whitewater and other local universities to help fund these scholarship opportunities.

Congratulations to our student scholarship winners, we are pleased to assist you in your promising careers in supply management.

Lauren Burkhardt is currently a junior within the Operations Management major, with a Spanish minor. At UW-W she is actively involved with many student organizations including Habitat for Humanity, the Honors Student Association, and Big Brothers Big Sisters. Lauren serves as the secretary of Sigma Iota Epsilon Management Fraternity, the undergraduate assistant for the Entrepreneurship Major Advisory Board (maintaining records and contacting members), and is the Risk Management Chairperson of Delta Zeta Sorority (promoting and educating members about safety issues). She funds her education by working as a student assistant for the UW-W Management Department. Lauren will be graduating in May 2011 and is currently looking for a summer internship. She can be contacted by sending an e-mail to BurkhardLD28@uww.edu.

Traci Reed is currently a junior at the University of Wisconsin – Whitewater pursuing a degree in Operations Management with an emphasis in supply chain management. Traci is actively involved in the Delta Zeta Sorority at UW-W. Currently, she holds the position of Vice President of New Member Education. She is also a part of the APICS chapter and will be pursuing the APICS certification before graduation. Traci is also actively involved in Karate through Karate America Wisconsin Rapids. I have been training for 11 years and teaching karate for 8 years. Traci is also actively involved with the UW-W Woman's Ultimate Frisbee team. Traci plans to study abroad this summer at Charles University in Prague, Czech Republic. She is on schedule to graduate in December of 2010 and is looking for an internship for her fall semester. Traci Reed can be contacted at reedtl09@uww.edu.

Elizabeth McCarthy is currently a junior at University of Wisconsin Whitewater with a major in Operations Management. She has an emphasis in supply chain management and is considering a double major in Finance or International Studies. She plans to graduate in December of 2011, and hopes to pursue a graduate degree, with an eye toward work in sports management. She is a member of the management honorary society, Sigma Iota Epsilon, at UW-W. She currently works in the advising office on campus. She is the recipient of the Clara Abbott scholarship, and the King/Chavez scholarship. She can be contacted at MccarthyEM19@uww.edu.

Andrea Treadeau is currently a junior at UW-Whitewater; majoring in Operations Management with a Supply Chain emphasis and strong background in Marketing.

At UW-Whitewater, Andrea works as a market researcher for WISC (the Wisconsin Innovation Service Center). There, she does extensive research on a variety of different industries and compiles the information into reports for clients. During the summer of 2009, Andrea took advantage of an international experience. She worked as a Sports Marketing Intern for Special Olympics Australia. While with SOA she gained remarkable experience of working within an organization, both as part of a team and individually. She is involved with organizations on campus including: APICS, AMA, and Student Foundation. Andrea will be graduating in December 2010 and is looking for a summer internship. She can be contacted via email at treadeauaj06@uww.edu.

Ian Bellovary is currently a junior, double majoring in Operations and Supply Chain Management and Management Computer Systems at the University of Wisconsin – Whitewater. At UW-Whitewater, Ian works as a Product and Market Researcher at the Wisconsin Innovation Service Center, with experience covering product feasibility, competitive intelligence, distributor assessments, and customer satisfaction. Ian is a member of APICS, AITP, General Management Organization, Sigma Alpha Lambda, and the Golden Key International Honour Society. Currently, he is looking forward to being an Information Management Leadership Program Intern at GE this summer. He will be graduating in May of 2011. Ian can be contacted by sending an email to BellovariP22@uww.edu.
